MINNOWS, ANYONE? Milam County can boast the largest minnow farm in Texas, B&B Minnow Farm at Milano. These vats represent just a part of the large operation, which can supply a shipment of thousands of minnows to a dealer hundreds of miles away, or a bag of a dozen to a local fisherman. Nearby are numerous ponds where minnows and goldfish are raised to stock the vats. Owners are Tom Betchan and his son, Wayne, Stanley, and Donnie.

Public Hearing To Air County Housing Plans

Grants Made For Law Enforcement

The Texas Criminal Justice Council has approved two grants for the Central Texas Region including $14,260 for a Peace Officer Training Program and $86,322 for a Regional Information Network.

The training program is scheduled for one year and is to be a continuation of the programs of offered last year through Central Texas College.

Special seminars were held on narcotics and criminal investigation and two Certification courses were also held, with 39 officers receiving State Certification. After September 1, State Certification will be required for all law enforcement officials.

Cameron Police Sgt. Felipe Martinez attended the intensive training course on narcotics and criminal investigation, and Officer Truman White will attend one of the four certification courses planned for this year, Police Chief John Shearin said.

The courses at the CTC campus are available without cost to law enforcement officials within the region, which includes Milam County. Shearin said when a local officer is attending the courses, the other officers share his hours, so there is no cost to the City.

The Regional Information project will be designed to demonstrate the capability to "plug-in" the law enforcement agencies within the six county region (Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Milam and Mills), the courts, prosecutors, and probation departments, into a central data retrieval system.

The aim of the Regional Information Network is to enable area law enforcement agencies to join together in rapid exchange of information about wanted persons, stolen property, organized crime activities, and drug abuse problems.

The system is to be a pilot project for non-metropolitan areas and will be part of a future State Information System. When that system becomes operational, law enforcement agencies may obtain information within minutes through terminals located throughout the region from the computer system located at Central Texas College.

Regional Authority Proposed

A proposed Regional Housing Authority will be discussed at a public meeting 10 a.m. Monday (today) in the Milam County Courtroom.

The Regional Housing plan was first presented to County Commissioners earlier this month by State Rep. Bob Salter of Coryell County and Charles Blake, administrative assistant to Cong. W. R. Poage.

As explained to Commissioners, regional funding is available on a regional planning basis to build standard housing purchasable at long-term, low interest by lower income families.

The proposed Regional Authority would include Limestone, Freestone, Falls, Leon, Burleson, Robertson and Milam counties.

Salter said if Milam County decided to join the Regional Authority there would be no cost to the county and Commissioners would be asked to appoint a local representative to serve on the Regional board.

He said Mississippi is presently the only state with a regional housing authority. Fifty houses have been constructed there and allocations for 1,300 more homes have been granted.

Salter explained that the program carried less stringent qualifications for the buyer than Farmers Home Administration home loans. He said they worked with existing housing authorities with the approval of the cities involved.

Lions Make 'Tie' True

Minor League White Sox know they played six games and lost only one even though a team standings story in the Herald Thursday showed them tied with the Lions at 4 wins each.

But the Lions came to The Herald's rescue Friday night defeating the White Sox 12-11 and made the tie official with five wins, two losses for each team.

School Changes Title I Programs

Federally funded programs in the Cameron Public Schools will undergo a change for the coming school year although funds will remain about the same as granted for the 1969-70 school calendar.

Cameron School Supt. D. R. Dodson said elementary school art classes, a 7th grade 'enrichment' class and Junior High girls physical education had been cut from the Title I program under new rulings.

"Actually Title I funds are directed to the economically deprived children and these three programs were being given to the general student body," Dodson explained.

He said the tightening of regulations also applied to remedial help, with only those from economically deprived backgrounds qualified for the remedial programs.

He said the $114,000 proposed Title I budget will be used to enlarge the remedial program. Scheduled for the coming year are remedial classes in reading through 8th grade; math and science for third, fourth and fifth grades; and language arts through high school.

Miss Mary Belle Batte, former director of the Junior High Enrichment Program, will remain in the school system as a history teacher and will continue the project in part using equipment already purchased.

Dodson said also that a physical education program would be programmed for Junior High girls, but on a more limited scale. Mrs. Alvis Fuquay, Girls P.E. instructor, will transfer to the remedial teaching program.

He said there was a possibility that the elementary art program could be continued under local funding if a qualified teacher can be found. Mrs. L. W. Stroup, Jr., Cameron elementary school art teacher for several years, resigned at the close of the 1969-70 school year.

Also scheduled for change next year is the teachers aide program. Eleven aides were funded under Title I last year and Dodson said this would be cut to seven and would include specific assignments rather than the general teacher aide program allowed in the past. In addition to the federally funded teacher aides there will be four aides funded under the new State Minimum Foundation.

Dodson said the Federal program for schools no longer included acquisition of equipment. "We got into this program earlier than many school districts and as a result we are well equipped with classroom audio-visual aids," Dodson said.

Robert Maler, director of the CISD Media Center, estimated that between $40,000 and $50,000 worth of classroom equipment had been purchased under Federal programs since 1965. This would be in addition to filmstrips and tapes.

Houston Co. Schedules Milbur Test

Ka-Hugh Enterprises of Houston, which scheduled a wildcat about ten days ago to be drilled in the Milbur Field in south Milam County, has scheduled its second wildcat in the field.

Ka-Hugh's new test well is its No. 1 R. J. Crittenden. Located on a lease in David Houston Survey, Drillsite will be only about 300 feet from the Milam-Burleson County line.

The Crittenden is permitted to 4,000 feet and has the basal Wilcox as its objective. It is being drilled on a farmout from Clark Oil & Refining Company, which acquired a number of leases about three years ago when the Milbur Field was being developed.

Ka-Hugh's earlier scheduled wildcat is its No. 1 P. H. Underwood, also a 4,000 footer and located in David Houston Survey. The Crittenden is located southwest of the Underwood.

Neither of the wildcats had been spudded at last report.

In another development in the south Milam area David M. Thomas, Jr., a Farmington, New Mexico operator, last week filed potential test figures for his No. 1 J. Robert Bailey which was drilled last December.

Figures showed the well pumped 12 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil per day on perforations at 3,175 - 182 feet and produced from the Escondido.

This is believed to be the first time production has been found in the Escondido formation in Milam County.

Minnow Farm ...

B&B Crop Grows In Water

By Bess Jeter

"I'm retired, and I think I'll raise a few minnows - can you give me a little information?" When the Betchan men, father and three sons and owners of B&B Minnow Farm at Milano hear this question, they advise the man to find something easier to do, because raising minnows is a lot of hard work.

B&B is one of the pioneers among a new type of farm, such as catfish farms, that are changing the meaning of the word. It was started about six or seven years ago, and is now the largest in Texas.

The farm, located on US 79, supplies minnows to dealers all over the State.

A casual visitor, looking at the rows of concreteblock vats in the cool, shaded shed might understandingly think there's "not much to raising minnows" but he has no idea of what goes in to getting those flashing little critters into the tanks.

There are 20 vats under the shed - ten are 5x60 feet and ten are 5x10 feet. The large vats can hold 400 pounds of minnows.

"Minnows are hard to raise," Tom Betchan explained. He and his sons, Wayne, Stanley, and Donnie, raise about half of their stock in ponds near the farm. They also import minnows from Missouri and Arkansas.

The ponds are on 300 acres of land, with about 180 water acres. Ranging in depth from one to six feet deep, ponds must be regularly checked for crawfish, frogs, and especially snakes - all fancying a minnow diet.

Betchan said he's become "an expert shot" in the battle against snakes. Draining the ponds each year and using selected poisons helps discourage crawfish and frogs to some extent, and also undesirable growth of vegetation.

The Betchans use their own equipment to do all the work on the ponds and on the four wells that supply 3000 gallons of water per minute "around the clock." Just the fuel to run the wells amounts to $1000 a month, Betchan noted.

The minnows are fed on a special food prepared at the farm and have hearty appetites.

Minnows are subject to various diseases, Betchan said, such as tail rot, gill rot, and several kinds of worms.

The farm is mainly a wholesale operation, but the minnows are also sold retail to area fishermen. This is the part that keeps the place hopping in the summer, especially on weekends.

"People just won't leave you alone, even if we're closed," Betchan said. He lives next to the farm and said customers come knocking on his door for bait at odd hours. Regular hours are 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week.

The minnows are graded out in four sizes - small, medium large "bass minnows" and large shiners, favored for trotlines. Some goldfish are also raised on the farm for sale.

The best seller is the medium minnow, also called the "crappie minnow," Betchan said.

The farm's biggest volume of business comes during the spring and summer, with activity slackening off in the winter.

Novice fishermen, who have tried to keep minnows alive until they get to their fishing hole, will wonder how B&B manages this feat when transporting a shipment to or from the farm.

It's done with plastic bags, ice, and oxygen.

For wholesale shipments, large plastic bags are filled with up to 1000 minnows. Some ice chunks are added to cool the water, and oxygen is shot into the bag, which is then tightly sealed.

The filled bags are packed in cardboard cartons and transported in an air-conditioned panel truck. The minnows can travel this way for six to ten hours, however Betchan said it is best to keep the time down to six hours.

Sudden temperature changes will kill the minnows and heat is the worst hazard. Before minnows are put in the vats, water temperatures are closely matched.

Smaller plastic bags are used for retail sales, with ice and oxygen added to the water. The minnows can be kept alive for up to three days in the kitchen refrigerator, or up to 24 hours in a cool, shady place.

If you're thinking of raising a few minnows in your back yard for your private fishing - forget it, is Tom Betchan's advice. You can't just throw a few in some water and expect any kind of a crop.

But if you are willing to invest about $300,000, you could think about raising them like B&B Minnow Farm does.

Tire Blowup Injures Man

Frank Hartley of Milano is recovering in a Cameron hospital from a freak accident that shortened one of his fingers.

Hartley, owner of a Texaco service station in Milano was inflating a tire on a gooseneck trailer Thursday shortly after noon when the tire blew off the rim, knocking him back against the pickup hitched to the trailer.

The last joint of his right hand ring finger was cut off, but Hartley said he didn't know what cut it. He also suffered slight lacerations on his face and bruises on his arm.

A broken head on the tire was apparently the cause of the blowup. Hartley is listed in satisfactory condition by Newton Memorial Hospital spokesmen.

NOW-NOW-NOW

This is a great time of year... vacationtime, swimtime, baseballtime, summertime.

We understand adult swimming classes are being held in the evenings at Cameron Municipal Pool.

Classes for kids have been held for years, but the oldest, people over ten years in this case, have often been left out.

It should be interesting to see how many adults turn out. A lot more adults than we realize don't know how to swim.

The Navy learns this every time a new group of recruits enters basic training. Like the Scouts and Red Cross, they teach the "buddy system" for this reason.

Until recent years, most people never swam in real lakes in many parts of Texas and the rest of the country. They found ponds, rivers and creeks the likeliest "swimminghole."

But now, lakes are developing throughout Central Texas, and every community has at least one public pool, regardless of size.

So it is timely adults get swimming lessons in Cameron. No reason we "over 30s" shouldn't join in the fun which the "under 30s" claim we don't know how to have.

IRISH TOMATOES? No, not really, but the Shamrock vegetable stand on US77 - SH 36 south of Cameron flies Irish flags all summer, reflecting Gene Whitaker's pride in his heritage. The flags are reported to have roused cheers from soldiers in passing

By Vern Sanford

For the past decade the cartridge industry has been in a great state of unrest. New cartridges have been introduced, some old favorites discarded. Armed services adopted a new military cartridge. But there have been several time-honored cartridges which have rocked right along. They continue to be best-sellers, despite all the fanfare accorded to their so-called replacements.

The venerable .30/06 is one cartridge that has had its supremacy challenged. But it has successfully stood off all comers. Today it continues to be the best selling cartridge on the market.

Quite a record for an ancient fellow that's almost 60 years old.

Of course there has to be a reason for this august position on the cartridge list. And with the .30/06 there is no mystery. It continues to sell and be used because it is one of the most versatile cartridges on the market.

Texas deer hunters, for example, find it works quite well on local whitetails, and also does a good job on the bigger mule deer of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

It will serve as an antelope weapon and even can be used to plunk jackrabbits or maybe woodchucks. It works equally well on the open prairies or in brush, at long ranges and short.

Ever so often a cartridge is introduced that, according to the publicity, will "replace the .30/06." Latest to make this challenge, and closest to carrying it out, is the .308. It has replaced the .30/06 as our official U.S. military cartridge.

But the .308 hasn't come close to overtaking the .30/06 yet, and perhaps it never will.

One cartridge that is stocked wherever ammunition is sold is the .30/06. You can go into the smallest town, where a few boxes of ammo are collected dust on the shelves of the general store, and be sure enough, there it will be, in the most prominent spot. This is one reason why the .30/06 has been popular. Gunners know there never will be any problem obtaining ammo for it.

History of the .30/06 dates back to 1903, although it wasn't officially named until 1906.

During the Spanish-American war over Cuba, the United States forces used the .30/40 Krag. After the shooting was over, military men decided something more potent was needed.

Result of this was the 1903 Springfield and the .30/06 cartridge chambered for it. But the results weren't entirely satisfactory.

When the Germans far surpassed it with the Model 1905 version of their 8X57 military cartridge, designers went scurrying back to their planning boards.

From this experience came the Model 1906 rifle and the .30/06 cartridge.

Actually, all that happened was the .30/03 cartridge had its neck shortened 1/10th of an inch; a 150-grain sharp-point bullet replaced the original 220-grain bullet; and velocity was jacked up to 2,700 feet-per-second.

As a sporting cartridge, the .30/06 got its biggest boost when Theodore Roosevelt took a slightly modified version of the rifle on a big-game hunt to Africa in 1910.

Its biggest popularity came when the .30/06 was chambered for bolt-action rifles. But back in the early days Winchester even had a lever-action gun chambered for it, the Model 1895 being converted to take .30/06 ammo.

For a long time hunters stayed with the 150-grain bullet, although the 220-grain bullet could be fired in the 1903 rifles.

Then some 20 to 25 years after it was introduced, the .30/06 started to get a new look. Many new cartridges were designed for it, making the rifle more versatile.

A proposed special equalization board to assess tax values on ranch, farm and forest lands drew opposition from Central Texas Assessing Officers in their June meeting held in Waco.

The proposal, backed by the Texas Farm Bureau, calls for a board composed of farmers, a banker, county commissioner, school board member and Federal Land Bank member to determine tax values in each county for rural land. Advocates suggest taxing for this land should be on cash lease value rather than sale value of the land.

Central Texas Tax Officers unanimously approved the following resolution:

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE CENTRAL TEXAS CHAPTER OF REGION 9 OF THE TEXAS ASSOCIATION OF ASSESSING OFFICERS:

That we, the members of the Central Texas Chapter of the Texas Association of Assessing Officers, resolve to unanimously oppose passage of S. J. R. #15 on the proposed Constitutional Amendment for Taxation on the Assessment of Ranch Land, Farm and Forest Lands, to be submitted to the electors of the State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1970.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we, the members of the Central Texas Chapter of TAAO, feel that this amendment, which establishes a special board for appraising the above mentioned property, by-passes the Assessor and Collector of Taxes and the Board of Equalization.

LET'S GO FISHING!

THIS BIG'UN DIDN'T GET AWAY!
THIS 42 LB. YELLOW CAT WAS CAUGHT IN 1968 IN LITTLE RIVER BY ALBERT HAJOVSKY, LEFT OWNER OF THE LOCAL WESTERN AUTO ASSOCIATE STORE AND R. C. (CAGE) KENNON, OPERATOR OF KENNON'S SHOE REPAIR SHOP. THIS FISH WAS THE LARGER OF 3 CAUGHT DURING 4 NIGHTS OF FISHING. THE OTHERS WEIGHED 27 AND 37 LBS. LIVE PERCH WAS USED FOR BAIT. JUST IMAGINE THE ECITEMENT AND THRILL OF CATCHING FISH LIKE THESE. DO YOU BELIEVE?

This writer recalls a fishing trip many years ago to the Colorado River in the Bastrop area. We were going after "OLD TOBE" a monster catfish that had been breaking lines and getting away for years.

There were three in our party. The second day the other two were in the boat running the lines when the excitement started, "We've got Old Tobe!"

Things soon quieted down and the two came ashore still excited and gasping for breath. We had him alongside the boat they exclaimed! How big was he I asked, Man, we don't have any idea how much he would weight but he was at least 2 foot longer than the boat --- Now, that is what you call excitement because we were using a 16 foot boat!

"OLD TOBE" is still there if you want to try for him.

More Power To Us...

Electric power is no problem in the Southwest, but in other parts of the country "brownouts" may be the newest social problem among the affluent metropolitan areas.

A grid power system may alleviate the problem.

This is another reason that Southwest industrial growth

continues: there is enough resource in electricity, gas and, of course, space, to interest the location or relocation of industry and therefore, jobs.

We suggest you read what the Christian Science Monitor notes about the problem of electricity in other parts of the country, brownouts if not blackouts.

WHAT OTHERS SAY...

Hot Summer - And Electricity

Americans learning of power shortages and blackouts and brownouts in postwar Europe and Asia used to say, "But it can't happen here." Now they are being warned that it can indeed happen. Electric power generation has definitely fallen behind demand, and may not catch up for five years or so.

So what does one do this summer if a 3 percent power brownout slows the air conditioner and shrinks the TV image, or if a blackout makes everything midnight? Take it in stride -- remembering ancestors who got by with kerosene lamps and candles. Additionally, strongly suggest to the power companies and the Federal Power Commission that they accelerate their power plant construction.

Make no mistake: affluence uses up electric current. And, despite dire poverty findings, the United States is affluent, beyond the dreams of the Byzantines. Electric power demands rise by about 9 percent each year. Power companies plan to spend $24 billion in the next five years, to overtake demand. Hopefully they can do this. But regulatory agencies in four states and the District of Columbia have already been told to ask their consumers to cut down on use of electric power. This year's first peaking of demand--in New York State on a hot weekend -- was successfully handled by drawing on Canadian power systems. Surely many more interchanges of power could be arranged; peak periods do not occur simultaneously across the country. Interior Secretary Hickel has outlined a plan for a national grid system that would enable plants in one area to draw on plants in other areas.

Plant expansion is of course encountering the objections of conservationists. Generating plants pollute air, heat up rivers, are unsightly, or carry a (very remote) threat of nuclear radiation. Here and there Americans may have to decide whether they want electric power or handsome scenery.

We are certain that a nation's power requirements can be met by generating plants that are safe, sightly and nonpolluting. But this is the challenge -- a challenge that will be on hand for some years.

--Christian Science Monitor

The Diplomatic Pouch

WASHINGTON, D. C.--The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

Soviet Visa

I am interested in visiting the Soviet Union with my wife some time in 1970. While in the Air Force, I served as a Russian translator. Will such service in the Air Force preclude my travel? If not, could you suggest channels through which I may obtain a travel visa?

A.B.
Rockford, Ill.

Dear A.B.: It is suggested you check with the security officer of the Air Force unit in which you served concerning any travel restrictions to which you might be subject. To arrange your trip, you should engage the services of one of many travel agents accredited by Intourist, the official Soviet travel organization. The travel agent will make arrangements for your trip and assist you in obtaining a Soviet visa.

Czech Invasion

My class is doing a model U.N. project. The topic is Czechoslovakia. I would like to know the current situation regarding the Russian occupation of that country. If you can, please send me the speeches, voting records, and resolutions of our country on this topic and any other information you think may be helpful.

P.M.
New Orleans, La.

Dear P.M.: Enclosed you will find a number of documents relating to the position the U.S. Government took at the time and following the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia. As you know, the invasion was never put on the agenda of the 25th General Assembly of the U.N. nor has it been on the agenda of any other U.N. General Assembly. In the documents enclosed you will see that the United States took a very positive stand against the invasion in the U.N. Security Council. It was in this Council that the Soviets vetoed further discussion of the matter.

Kellogg-Briand Pact

Working on the origins of the Kellogg-Briand Pact, I am interested in the testimony of State Department officials instrumental in defining our Government's European policy in the mid-1920's. Specifically, I would like to know the following: 1) the current address of Spencer Phenix, personal secretary of former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg; 2) the whereabouts of Mr. Phenix's personal papers; 3) whether or not the family of former Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle, Jr., had decided to make available again his diary to scholars; and 4) if there exists any record of the December 22, 1927, meeting in which Secretary Kellogg testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee about a treaty to outlaw war.

Toledo, O.

Dear C.L.B.: Mr. Spencer Phenix was neither a Civil Servant nor a Foreign Service Officer as personal secretary to former Secretary of State Kellogg; thus, the State Department's personnel records do not carry his name or present address. Requests would have to be made to him or his heirs regarding his personal papers. His official papers are filed with the National Archives and may be consulted there.

The personal papers of former Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle, Jr., are in the custody of the Library of Harvard University. It is suggested that you write to the Chief of Staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a transcript of Secretary Kellogg's testimony of December 22, 1927. The Department of State has no records of the Kellogg period other than those in the National Archives.

Do you have an inquiry about U.S. foreign policy? Send it to: "The Diplomatic Pouch" P/MS, Room 4831 Department of State Washington, D.C. 20520

Slow-Up in '60s

The 1960s produced six percent fewer housing starts than the '50s, figures from HUD indicate. The count for the '60s: 9.1 million single-family houses, 5.1 million apartments.

TPA Backs Hiway Fund

The Texas Press Association adopted the following recommendation of the resolutions committee at its 91st Annual Summer Convention held in Houston, June 20, 1970:

"... And be it further resolved that the Texas Press Association... 4. Urge Congress to approve such legislation as will assure continuance of the Highway Trust Fund and the planning and construction of future programs of highway work for the economic good and defensive security of our country."

Such legislation presently is pending before Congress. The Highway Trust Fund is derived from taxes imposed upon motor vehicle users. Only about 55 percent of these taxes collected in Texas are returned to the Lone Star State to be matched by State funds for the construction of Interstate and U.S. - and State-numbered highways.

Farmland and buildings in the U.S. have reached a real estate value of $202.6 billion, up 5% from 1968. Farmland averages $187 per acre, ranging from $34 per acre in Wyoming to above $900 per acre in New Jersey.

Mutual Help Housing Is HUD Plan

LIVINGSTON

Senator John Tower will dedicate the first Mutual Help Houses built in the State of Texas on June 26 at Texas' only Indian Reservation.

Mutual Help Housing is a Department of Housing and Urban Development project for low income families in which the families actually buy houses.

Each family works 500 hours helping to build the house as a "sweat equity" down payment. Then they pay 20% of their income monthly for 16 years. At the end of this period they become owners of the homes.

Forty of this type houses are being constructed on the Alabama & Coushatta Indian Reservation near Livingston.

Walt Broemer, Supt. of the Reservation states, "This is one of the finest HUD housing programs because the participants have to make an effort to acquire the house and since they are the owners, they take more pride in caring for the homes than in low-rent and rent-subsidy programs."

Wilkerson Recalls . . . 'The 4ths That Were'

By Jesse Wilkerson

Celebrating the 4th of July was quite an event in Cameron and Milam County, in the old days. Numerous towns and communities held picnics and barbecues. Old Milano Junction was noted for its annual Woodmen of the World barbecues. These festivities drew large crowds.

Political candidates came from all parts of the county and state. Governor Tom Campbell came from Austin one year as an honored guest.

For entertainment they had horse races and contests of various sorts. Most of all, as they said, "the Milano barbecue was famous for its red lemonade that was made in the shade."

Cameron also had its celebrations, with picnics and band concerts at the old City Park, with lots of fireworks.

Speaking of fireworks, there was an incident at Wholles' on one 4th of July, that I am sure all of the old timers will remember.

In those days, Wholles' was a favorite hangout for the thirsty, with its nickel beers and ten-cent chilies, also its famous limburger cheese, a tasty dish if you could withstand the smell. The building, occupied by Wholles' extended over a deep gulley on the back side.

The place was full of patrons one 4th of July evening, when fun loving young fellows exploded some giant firecrackers underneath the building.

There was a terrific explosion as the firecrackers were as large as man's lower arm. To say that there was an exodus, would be putting it mild. It was more like a stampede as the inmates fled the building through doors and

Warren On Peru Mission

USS GUAM

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Leslie D. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Warren of Route 1, Calvert, is participating in a mercy mission to earthquake-torn Peru aboard the amphibious assault carrier USS Guam.

The Guam carried three highly specialized Navy surgical teams, a large quantity of emergency supplies and 16 Marine Corps helicopters to the stricken nation.

The "choppers" are transporting food and medical supplies into devastated areas from the port city of Chimbote, 240 miles north of Lima.

Hundreds of disaster victims are being flown to the carrier for medical care. Other medical teams consisting of Peruvians, Americans, Brazilians, Argentinians and Canadians are being airlifted by the Marine helicopters. Peace Corps volunteers are also assisting in the operation.

Bremond To Mark 4th

BREMOND

The annual July 4th celebration will be held in Bremond Saturday, July 4 at St. Mary's School grounds.

The celebration will feature barbecue dinner and supper with trimmings. There will be entertainment, games, prizes and refreshments available. A dance at night concludes the event.

The celebration is sponsored by the K of C of Bremond. The public is invited.

P&W MAGAZINE WINS SECOND IN NATIONAL CONTEST

AUSTIN

Efforts of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Information and Education Division were rewarded this week by second-place prize in two categories in competition sponsored by the American Association for Conservation Education, meeting in Cody, Wyo.

The TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE Magazine was runner-up to New York's NEW YORK CONSERVATIONIST in the magazine category, and a radio series by I&E Officer L. D. Nuckles of Rockport topped a second-place finish in the radio competition.

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE Magazine won first place in the national contest the past two years.

The Department's graphic arts section won a third place in the special publications contest.

Storage Goes Into Carport

When building or buying a home, a couple checks out the indoor storage spaces with much care. But many people overlook the need for outdoor storage for garden and sports equipment.

One place that's almost always handy is the carport. If it isn't big enough for built-in storage, try a built-out. It's convenient and it also provides an insulating wall.

A three-foot wide addition, the length of one wall, will house mowers, skis, bikes, even fireplace wood.

Set the framework on concrete footings for a firm foundation and remove enough dirt to allow a "floor" of gravel for drainage. If you prefer, surface the floor with spaced wood decking.

The carpentering is no problem for a handyman. Begin by attaching the outer posts and beams to the existing carport. The size and location of doors are important, so plan them for easy access to the items you expect to store.

If your house has wood siding, use matching lumber and paint or stain. If it's brick or stucco, use Douglas fir, cedar or pine and finish it to match the house trim. Slant the roof outward for drainage and cover it to match existing roofing.

Buyer Cuts Taxes

While weighing the dollar pros and cons of buying a home, don't overlook the income tax refunds that can ease the cost of this family investment. On an $18,000 mortgage, the deduction from taxed income can run from $1200 to $1500 a year.

Learning Lair Lures Family

Compact learning center can be boon to all the family. Box shelves hold reference books, record player, speakers. Under-counter space works well for tall books, records, writing gear. Cabinet can house folding table, chairs. Pull-out seat is integrated by matching random-width board facing. Any western-graded lumber is suitable.

Compact Learning Center Easy To Erect, Needs Little Space

Why the boom in family learning centers? Sure, since Sputnik, Johnny can read, but that's not enough to keep him clued in on the space age. So, more and more parents are providing learning centers for their children.

This is where school homework gets done, and maybe Dad learns something, too. It's great stimulus to curiosity about mankind, the earth and space technology.

Essentials include reference books, current magazines, perhaps a moon map and color TV, and other items dictated by the family's interests. And, of course, a place to keep them all together. An extra room to use for this purpose is a big asset, but if you don't have one, a built-in will serve well.

One advantage of an installation of this type in a family room is that it's right at hand and more readily put to use.

Pull-Out Seat Matches

If the counter is to be used for typing or other desk work, a pull-out seat, faced with matching cabinets doors, will be most useful. Other under-counter space may hold records and writing equipment. A tall compartment is useful for atlases and art books.

Consider storing folding tables and chairs in one cabinet. A surprisingly small space will hold a set. Be sure to measure the table top, since sizes vary and the counter will have to be high enough so the table can be placed on edge beneath it.

TRAVIS SCHOOL HAS HOMECOMING

The Travis School Homecoming was held Sunday, June 28, with classes of 1930, '35, '40, '45 and '50 honored. Special recognition was given to former teachers at the school, the 1917 student body, and the girls' championship basketball team of 1934. A basket lunch was enjoyed at noon.

BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. John Santellano of Rockdale, a boy, 5 pounds 10 ounces, born 11:17 a.m. Friday, June 26, at St. Edward Hospital.

Priority List Need of House Hunters

Few families can afford their dream home these days, but most can find a choice of houses that suit their major basic needs. It pays to decide what your priorities are and learn how you can get more for your money.

You'll find ideas galore in 12 pages of color photographs and text under the title, "Homes Where You Can Live the Way You'd Like." To obtain a copy, send 15 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 525-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

Celebrate With Cheese

The enormous diversity of products offered by the dairy industry provides countless possibilities for palatable treats. Homesteader's Casserole, as one example, is a one-dish meal including a succulent combination of cheese, meat and vegetables. You will be surprised how delicious that breakfast sausage can be later in the day as a delightfully unexpected dinner treat. Serve with fresh, crisp carrot and celery sticks and your favorite rolls and that quick but wholesome and unique summer dinner you have been searching for is complete.

Velveta Process Cheese Spread provides a good nutritional package because it is not only made from natural cheeses which contain milk nutrients, but during processing supplemental milk minerals and solids are added. A two-ounce slice has more protein, calcium and vitamin A than an eight-ounce glass of whole milk. The velvety texture and mild flavor of processed cheese spread make Homesteader's Casserole an irresistible dish.

Homesteader's Casserole
19-oz. pkg. frozen cut green beans, cooked, drained
1/2 cup pearl onions, cooked, drained
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
3 cups hot mashed potatoes
1 lb. pork sausage links, cooked, drained
1/2 lb. Velveta Pasteurized Process Cheese Spread, sliced

Combine green beans, onions and pimiento. In a 2-quart casserole, layer half the potatoes, sausage and cheese. Top with remaining potatoes, combined vegetables, remaining sausage and cheese. Cover; bake at 350°, 30 minutes.

Barbecue Suggested ... Try Summertime Turkey

The Texas Turkey Federation and TAP, within the Texas Department of Agriculture, will join forces again this August to put on a two month state-wide promotion of Texas turkey.

Commissioner John C. White, said, "Turkeys were not meant to be eaten only on Thanksgiving and Christmas, you can enjoy them any time." Right he is because turkeys are sold frozen and fresh chilled the year round.

The size of the tasty bird may range from 4 - 24 pounds; the factor of size alone discourages many homemakers from cooking turkey more often than seasonally. This may be due to the fact that consumers traditionally visualize a 22 pound turkey for the serving platter.

Turkeys are now processed and sold at the retail level as boneless roasts, halves, quarters, cut-up parts and even as precooked rolls.

If this is not the situation at the local grocery store, then ask the meat cutter or specialist to slice the turkey how you want it. This enables the housewife to gear the amount of turkey for any size family.

Another guide to delectable eating is to fry turkey steaks. Turkey is an economical buy all year round due to factors of no waste, little fat and the versatility of Texas turkey. The larger birds in particular are a good buy because there is more meat in proportion to bone and approximately costs as little as 25¢ per serving.

Turkey is still the symbol of bountiful repast and appeals to all age groups and weight watchers. Turkey meat is useful in reducing diets because it supplies generous amounts of the essential nutrients and has only 212 calories in a 3 1/2 ounce serving. Nutritionally speaking, turkey is highest in protein and lowest in cholesterol of all other poultry and red meats. Turkey ranks high in riboflavin, niacin and other B Vitamins as well as high quality protein.

When selecting turkey remember the larger the bird the better the buy. Allow 3/4 - 1 pound per serving for small turkeys and allow 1/2 - 3/4 pound per serving for larger birds.

Make plans this summer for a backyard get-together and serve Texas Barbecued Summertime Turkey. . . a guide to good eating and enjoyment.

The Marquis de Lafayette gave the key to the Bastille to his friend George Washington, who hung it in Mount Vernon where it remains today.

Surface Water for Drinking

It is estimated that by 1980 some 165 million people will be depending on surface water for drinking purposes. By the year of 2000 it is expected that the fresh water supply may total more than 1000 billion gallons daily.

Rub outside of turkey with good grade oleo and place turkey in pan on rack. Cover with Bar-B-Q Sauce (using beer). Cover or wrap in foil and bake. Baste about two times during roasting period. Bake at 300 degrees F. Time Per Pound:

8-10 lb., 20 to 25 minutes
10-16 lb., 18 to 20 minutes
18-25 lb., 15 to 18 minutes
For free recipes and information write: John C. White, Commissioner Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Drawer BB, Austin, Texas 78711.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Boneless Leg of Pork (Fresh Boneless Ham).

Q. How is it identified?
A. It is a fresh boneless, shaped and tied whole leg or ham. It has a thin covering of fat. The roll usually weighs 10 to 14 pounds but may also be cut into smaller roasts.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting (baking). To roast, place the Leg of Pork, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part, but not resting in fat. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) to an internal temperature of 170°F. A 10 to 14-pound roll will require approximately 24 to 28 minutes per pound; a piece weighing 4 to 5 pounds will require 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

DRUG ADDICTION HITS HOME

KNOW YOUR ENEMY!

Hallucinogens: marijuana, hashish (reefers, joints, grass, pot), LSD (acid), mescaline; Depressants: barbiturates (downers, barbs, phoenies), tranquilizers; Stimulants: amphetamines (pep pills, speed), diet pills; Narcotics: heroin (H, horse, junk, snow), codeine (schoolboy), cocaine (coke, speed balls), morphine — all threaten to hit right home.

Drug addiction isn't somebody else's problem. . . it's ours. Each of us is a loser when the addict, ravaged by physical and emotional damage, driven by growing dependence on his drug, turns his potential as a person and as a citizen into frantic scheming for ways to get his drug and pay for it. To support his habit, he almost certainly turns to crime. Most alarming -- and of grave concern to parents -- is the spread of drug addiction downward, into the classrooms, of our high schools and even grade schools. There are no easy answers. . . but stopping drug addiction begins by honestly facing its problems.

FISH STOCKING TIME in Milam County and pond owners receive black bass fingerlings from Parks & Wildlife Department recently. R. C. Ash, of P&W Inland Fisheries Division, counts out fish for a waiting "customer." The fingerlings are offered free by

P&W for stocking ponds and tanks -- bass in the spring and catfish in the fall. Applications are made to the Department earlier in the year for the fingerlings, through local Game Management Officers.

Lobsters and Crabs Go To Pot

to cover the frame but it was found unsatisfactory because of the need for frequent repair. It is being replaced rapidly by steel wire mesh.

The entire trap is given a plastic coating to make it saltwater-resistant and to bond the wire to the frame. A trap weighs about 138 pounds and costs approximately $100 as against the $5 to $10 for a light wooden pot. Lobstermen have caught more than 30 pounds in a single steel trap while experts say that five to 10 pounds per day per trap is a very profitable catch.

Show Stars Tate Work

Larry Tate, son of former residents of Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Earl N. Tate, along with his wife Carol Andrews Tate were featured in a gallery show of contemporary art at the Barn at El Milagro, a restored home in Round Rock on June 20 and 21.

Tate was graduated with honors from the University of Texas this year with a degree in studio art, with sculpture and ceramics his specialty. He received a fellowship to the University of Washington at Seattle, where he plans to begin work on a master of fine arts degree in sculpture this fall.

His work has also been shown in the U.T. Student Shows and he and his wife held a two-man art show at the McNamara-O'Connor Historical and Art Museum in Victoria last year.

'Hitches' Dampen Vacationers Fun

Mr. A and his wife were off for a weekend of camping in the mountains when the camper they were trailing broke loose and cartwheeled into the oncoming traffic.

Mr. B heard a loud thud as his rented trailer full of garbage overturned and spilled its malodorous cargo all over the roadway.

Mr. C felt the new boat he was towing lurch crazily seconds before losing control of his car and slamming into a hillside.

As the summer months of peak weekend and vacation travel begin, these cases from insurance company files make a timely and ominous point:

Many of the ever increasing number of people that derive pleasure or profit from trailering their belongings don't know how to go about it safely.

Just how serious the situation is no one knows, according to Aetna. Yet the company says slightly over a week's worth of research turned up nearly 150 trailer accidents. And Aetna, one of the nation's largest insurance companies, estimates that the yearly toll is in the thousands and growing.

The cases of A, B and C above tell the story of trailering's three great dangers:

-The safety chain that isn't attached properly under the hitch (A).

-The safety chain that doesn't meet normal safety standards (B).

-The hitch that's installed incorrectly on the towing vehicle (C).

How to go about avoiding these dangers? Aetna has some advice:

You can start by having a "pro" choose the hitch you'll need and by letting him install it. This means the dealer who sells your make of car or some other well-established automotive expert who regularly handles this type of work. If you're doubtful, check with the dealer who sold you your trailer.

In other words, resist the urge to save a couple of dollars by buying the least expensive hitch or installing it yourself.

Next, and failure to take this step is probably trailering's most common error, cross the safety chains under the tongue of the hitch. This forms a loop that will catch the trailer tongue before it can dig into the ground should your hitch fail.

Also, leave only as much slack in the safety chains as you'll need for proper turning of the vehicles.

On a recent weekend trip, a member of Aetna's engineering department found that 19 out of 20 people he saw pulling a trailer had their safety chains improperly installed.

Finally, read and believe in the instructions that come from the manufacturer of your trailer and trailer hitch. Don't pull a heavier load than your rig was built for, and don't pull it under adverse speed, weather or road conditions.

If you'll just follow these few precautions, your summer travel plans should go off without a "hitch."

Loss in Forest Outdoes Usage

Up to 15 billion board feet of timber is lost annually to overmaturity, insects, disease and fire in the United States—more than enough for all housing currently being built, estimates Knox Marshall, forestry vice president of Western Wood Products Assn., Portland, Or.

Two-thirds of this huge loss of usable wood occurs in the West and most of it on federal forest lands, Marshall noted. Inaccessibility, a woeful lack of roads, is the key problem, he said.

The cost of roads and intensive management would be more than repaid in building materials gained from neglected forests, Marshall stated.

Highway Dept. To Add Environmental Experts

AUSTIN

Discussions centering on environmental problems relating to highway construction highlighted the Annual Convention of the Texas Good Roads Association here June 22-23.

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall promised delegates that the Highway Department was doing everything possible to meet today's environmental demands, and that within a few months the Department would add an archeologist, a sociologist, an ecologist, and a noise expert. "Times have changed," James D. Pitcock of Houston, TGRA's public relations committee head, pointed out, "and the highway planning, location and design must be made responsive to the social and environmental, as well as to the economic, values of a community."

Federal Judge Hal Woodward, former chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, urged that women be recruited to help solve today's problems. "If you want your story told, tell it to a woman," he said, pointing out that women, rather than men, were more involved with automobiles, safety and traffic problems.

Resolutions adopted by the TGRA, whose mission is to promote the construction and maintenance of an adequate highway system to meet the transportation needs of the people of the State, included:

Endorsement of a Constitutional amendment, to be voted on in November, that would lower to a simple majority rather than a two-thirds approval, in road bond elections;

Screen Cuts Seamy View

Many windows needed for light and air circulation look out on ugly scenes of service areas and trash cans, or expose the family to view from street or neighbors.

A simple and attractive privacy screen can be made of 2x2-inch lumber spaced at intervals on a 2x2 or 2x4-inch base.

The screen may be set just under the eaves and attached to the soffit at the top. Horizontal 2x4-inch braces are nailed to the uprights before installation.

The ambitious handyman may want to construct a more ornate screen by adding a pattern of spacers between the uprights or varying the width of uprights and spaces.

Western pine or Douglas fir lumber is easily worked and is durable. It may be stained or painted to match house exterior siding or trim.

It's better, and quicker, to pre-stain the lumber before assembly. If the base is on or in the ground, it should be made of treated wood.

Harper To Head Alcoa Directors

John D. Harper, president and chief executive officer of Aluminum Company of America, and Rockdale Works' first works manager was elected chairman of the board of June 18, Harper, 60, will continue to serve as chief executive officer and chairman of Alcoa's Executive Committee.

W. H. Krome George, 52, executive vice president and a director, was elected to succeed Harper as president. F. J. Close, chairman of the board since 1965, will retire June 30. He will continue to serve as a director.

Harper, who was only 15 when he began his Alcoa career at the company's Tennessee Operations during his 1925 high school vacation, was elected president in 1963 and chief executive officer in 1965.

He has since guided Alcoa through a period of major growth and modernization in the United States and abroad, and in the process has become one of the nation's best known industrial executives.

Tips From Tippet

Almost every driver will tell you that it is the driver behind him who is responsible for preventing a collision with his vehicle's rear end.

There are some things the lead driver can do to help prevent rear-end accidents.

Start slowing in time to make your stops smooth and gradual, giving the following driver time to react to your stoplights and space in which to stop.

Signal your intentions well before you stop or slow down.

If a tailgater persists in following too closely, slow down and try to get him to go around you. Even if he doesn't take the hint, the situation will be less hazardous at the slower speed. Above all, don't lose your cool and do something rash.

Santa Fe Computers For Freight

A special equipment control program designed to obtain maximum utilization of freight cars has been developed by Santa Fe Railway, according to John S. Reed, president, Chicago.

The program functions through five new regional freight car distribution offices established at Topeka, Kans.; Temple and Amarillo, Tex.; and Los Angeles and Fresno, Calif., all of which are linked by microwave communications to Santa Fe's computer center at Topeka. Tele-processing equipment there analyzes about 50,000 freight car activity records arriving daily from across the railroad, and transmits to the regional centers a current listing of special equipped cars within their area of responsibility which are immediately available for loading, plus a projection of those to become available in one, two and three days.

"We anticipate that this advance availability of information will enable us to achieve a meaningful improvement in car utilization and supply," Reed said.

'Funny' Accidents Not So Humorous To Victims

AUSTIN

One recent visitor to a Texas State park fell from a tree from which he was plucking pine cones.

At another park, a young motorcyclist collided with a d-r, causing injury to both parties.

A child in yet another State park found that walking on live coals is something to be left to Indian fakirs.

Funny incidents?

Hardly funny to those involved. But each year, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials receive hundreds of reports of accidents -- mostly preventable accidents -- from the park system.

Falls, cuts, bicycle accidents and even occasional drownings occur in the State parks despite the efforts of park officials to urge visitors to be safety-conscious.

Carelessness is always the major cause of mishaps. One visitor to Bonham State Park was hurt in a fall from a pavilion -- his frisbee had gone astray. Two men suffered burns at Martin Dies State Park when butane from their camper stove ignited after the flame was blown out by the wind overnight.

Bicycle accidents are the most numerous of all mishaps in the State parks. Riding over unfamiliar ground or along narrow trails is always an open invitation for a "skinned knee" or worse.

Officials urge park visitors to use at least as much caution afield as they use at home. The reward will be pleasant memories instead of breaks and bruises after the trip is over.

Hypothetical Shortage

If all food production stopped today, by tomorrow no milk would be available, in five days there would be no red meat nor eggs, in seven days all chickens would be gone and in 25 days all canned and condensed milk would be used.

Scrap Wood Harvested

Vancouver, B. C. -- (HK) -- Until the 1900's the sawdust, chips and other waste products of sawmills were burned. Today, however, thanks to advanced processing techniques employed by major forest product companies such as MacMillan Bloedel Limited, such waste is used in the manufacture of paper pulp, composition building materials and many other products. In fact, every scrap of wood harvested now has a valuable use.

MINNOWS, ANYONE? Milam County can boast the largest minnow farm in Texas, B&B Minnow Farm at Milano. These vats represent just a part of the large operation, which can supply a shipment of thousands of minnows to a dealer hundreds of miles away, or a bag of a dozen to a local fisherman. Nearby are numerous ponds where minnows and goldfish are raised to stock the vats. Owners are Tom Betchan and his son, Wayne, Stanley, and Donnie.

Minnow Farm ...

B&B Crop Grows In Water

By Bess Jeter

"I'm retired, and I think I'll raise a few minnows - can you give me a little information?" When the Betchan men, father and three sons and owners of B&B Minnow Farm at Milano hear this question, they advise the man to find something easier to do, because raising minnows is a lot of hard work.

B&B is one of the pioneers among a new type of farm, such as catfish farms, that are changing the meaning of the word. It was started about six or seven years ago, and is now the largest in Texas.

The farm, located on US 79, supplies minnows to dealers all over the State.

A casual visitor, looking at the rows of concreteblock vats in the cool, shaded shed might understandingly think there's "not much to raising minnows," but he has no idea of what goes in to getting those flashing little critters into the tanks.

There are 20 vats under the shed - ten are 5x60 feet and ten are 5x10 feet. The large vats can hold 400 pounds of minnows.

"Minnows are hard to raise," Tom Betchan explained. He and his sons, Wayne, Stanley, and Donnie, raise about half of their stock in ponds near the farm. They also import minnows from Missouri and Arkansas.

The ponds are on 300 acres of land, with about 180 water acres, ranging in depth from one to six feet deep. Ponds must be regularly checked for crawfish, frogs, and especially snakes - all fancying a minnow diet.

Betchan said he's become "an expert shot" in the battle against snakes. Draining the ponds each year and using selected poisons helps discourage crawfish and frogs to some extent, and also undesirable growth of vegetation.

The Betchans use their own equipment to do all the work on the ponds and on the four wells that supply 3000 gallons of water per minute "around the clock." Just the fuel to run the wells amounts to $1000 a month, Betchan noted.

The minnows are fed on a special food prepared at the farm and have hearty appetites.

Minnows are subject to various diseases, Betchan said, such as tail rot, gill rot, and several kinds of worms.

The farm is mainly a wholesale operation, but the minnows are also sold retail to area fishermen. This is the part that keeps the place hopping in the summer, especially on weekends.

"People just won't leave you alone, even if we're closed," Betchan said. He lives next to the farm and said customers come knocking on his door for bait at odd hours. Regular hours are 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., seven days a week.

The minnows are graded out in four sizes - small, medium large "bass minnows" and large shiners, favored for trotlines. Some goldfish are also raised on the farm for sale.

The best seller is the medium minnow, also called the "crappie minnow," Betchan said.

The farm's biggest volume of business comes during the spring and summer, with activity slackening off in the winter.

Novice fishermen, who have tried to keep minnows alive until they get to their fishing hole, will wonder how B&B manages this feat when transporting a shipment to or from the farm.

It's done with plastic bags, ice, and oxygen.

For wholesale shipments, large plastic bags are filled with up to 1000 minnows. Some ice chunks are added to cool the water, and oxygen is shot into the bag, which is then tightly sealed.

The filled bags are packed in cardboard cartons and transported in an air-conditioned panel truck. The minnows can travel this way for six to ten hours, however Betchan said it is best to keep the time down to six hours.

Sudden temperature changes will kill the minnows and heat is the worst hazard. Before minnows are put in the vats, water temperatures are closely matched.

Smaller plastic bags are used for retail sales, with ice and oxygen added to the water. The minnows can be kept alive for up to three days in the kitchen refrigerator, or up to 24 hours in a cool, shady place.

If you're thinking of raising a few minnows in your back yard for your private fishing - forget it, is Tom Betchan's advice. You can't just throw a few in some water and expect any kind of a crop.

But if you are willing to invest about $300,000, you could think about raising them like B&B Minnow Farm does.

Public Hearing To Air County Housing Plans

Grants Made For Law Enforcement

The Texas Criminal Justice Council has approved two grants for the Central Texas Region including $14,260 for a Peace Officer Training Program and $86,322 for a Regional Information Network.

The training program is scheduled for one year and is to be a continuation of the programs offered last year through Central Texas College.

Special seminars were held on narcotics and criminal investigation and two Certification courses were also held, with 39 officers receiving State Certification. After September 1, State Certification will be required for all law enforcement officials.

Cameron Police Sgt. Felipe Martinez attended the intensive training course on narcotics and criminal investigation, and Officer Truman White will attend one of the four certification courses planned for this year, Police Chief John Shearin said.

The courses at the CTC campus are available without cost to law enforcement officials within the region, which includes Milam County. Shearin said when a local officer is attending the courses, the other officers share his hours, so there is no cost to the City.

The Regional Information project will be designed to demonstrate the capability to "plug-in" the law enforcement agencies within the six county region (Bell, Coryell, Hamilton, Lampasas, Milam and Mills), the courts, prosecutors, and probation departments, into a central data retrieval system.

The aim of the Regional Information Network is to enable area law enforcement agencies to join together in rapid exchange of information about wanted persons, stolen property, organized crime activities, and drug abuse problems.

The system is to be a pilot project for non-metropolitan areas and will be part of a future State Information System. When that system becomes operational, law enforcement agencies may obtain information within minutes through terminals located throughout the region from the computer system located at Central Texas College.

A proposed Regional Housing Authority will be discussed at a public meeting 10 a.m. Monday (today) in the Milam County Courtroom.

The Regional Housing plan was first presented to County Commissioners earlier this month by State Rep. Bob Salter of Coryell County and Charles Blake, administrative assistant to Cong. W. R. Poage.

As explained to Commissioners, regional funding is available on a regional planning basis to build standard housing purchasable at long-term, low interest by lower income families.

The proposed Regional Authority would include Limestone, Freestone, Falls, Leon, Burleson, Robertson and Milam counties.

Salter said if Milam County decided to join the Regional Authority there would be no cost to the county and Commissioners would be asked to appoint a local representative to serve on the Regional board.

He said Mississippi is presently the only state with a regional housing authority. Fifty houses have been constructed there and allocations for 1,300 more homes have been granted.

Salter explained that the program carried less stringent qualifications for the buyer than Farmers Home Administration home loans. He said they worked with existing housing authorities with the approval of the cities involved.

Storytime Starts At City Library

Storytime at the Cameron Public Library will begin this week and continue through the third week in August. Four, five and six year olds will meet Tuesdays, starting June 30, from 10:30 to 11 a.m. Seven and eight year olds (those entering second and third graders) will meet Thursday mornings, starting July 2, from 10:30 to 11:30.

Mothers are encouraged to bring their children and stay and have coffee which will be served in the reception area.

Planned activities include stories, arts and crafts, songs, and finger plays. Storytime will be supervised by Mrs. Ed Magre and conducted by Mary Bowman, Sharon Harwell, Karen Harwell, Debbie Coker, Pat Hollas, Katherine Kahler and Mary Caroline Matula.

Lions Make 'Tie' True

Minor League White Sox know they played six games and lost only one even though a team standing story in the Herald Thursday showed them tied with the Lions at 4 wins each.

But the Lions came to The Herald's rescue Friday night defeating the White Sox 12-11 and made the tie official with five wins, two losses for each team.

School Changes Title I Programs

Federally funded programs in the Cameron Public Schools will undergo a change for the coming school year although funds will remain about the same as granted for the 1969-70 school calendar.

Cameron School Supt. D. R. Dodson said elementary school art classes, a 7th grade "enrichment" class and Junior High girls physical education had been cut from the Title I program under new rulings.

"Actually Title I funds are directed to the economically deprived children and these three programs were being given to the general student body," Dodson explained.

He said the tightening of regulations also applied to remedial help, with only those from economically deprived backgrounds qualified for the remedial programs.

He said the $114,000 proposed Title I budget will be used to enlarge the remedial program. Scheduled for the coming year are remedial classes in reading through 8th grade; math and science for third, fourth and fifth grades; and language arts through high school.

Miss Mary Belle Batte, former director of the Junior High Enrichment Program, will remain in the school system as a history teacher and will continue the project in part using equipment already purchased.

Dodson said also that a physical education program would be programmed for Junior High girls, but on a more limited scale. Mrs. Alvis Fuquay, Girls P.E. instructor, will transfer to the remedial teaching program.

He said there was a possibility that the elementary art program could be continued under local funding if a qualified teacher can be found. Mrs. L. W. Stroup, Jr., Cameron elementary school art teacher for several years, resigned at the close of the 1969-70 school year.

Also scheduled for change next year is the teachers aide program. Eleven aides were funded under Title I last year and Dodson said this would be cut to seven and would include specific assignments rather than the general teacher aide program allowed in the past. In addition to the federally funded teacher aides there will be four aides funded under the new State Minimum Foundation.

Dodson said the Federal program for schools no longer included acquisition of equipment. "We got into this program earlier than many school districts and as a result we are well equipped with classroom audio-visual aids," Dodson said.

Robert Maler, director of the CISD Media Center, estimated that between $40,000 and $50,000 worth of classroom equipment had been purchased under Federal programs since 1965. This would be in addition to film strips and tapes.

Houston Co. Schedules Milbur Test

Ka-Hugh Enterprises of Houston, which scheduled a wildcat about ten days ago to be drilled in the Milbur Field in south Milam County, has scheduled its second wildcat in the field.

Ka-Hugh's new test well will be No. 1 R. J. Crittenden. Location is on a lease in David Houston Survey. Drillsite will be only about 300 feet from the Milam-Burleson County line.

The Crittenden is permitted to 4,000 feet and has the basal Wilcox as its objective. It is being drilled on a farmout from Clark Oil & Refining Company, which acquired a number of leases about three years ago when the Milbur Field was being developed.

Ka-Hugh's earlier scheduled wildcat is its No. 1 P. H. Underwood, also a 4,000 footer and located in David Houston Survey. The Crittenden is located southwest of the Underwood.

Neither of the wildcats had been spudded at last report.

In another development in the south Milam area David M. Thomas, Jr., a Farmington, New Mexico operator, last week filed potential test figures for his No. 1 J. Robert Bailey which was drilled last December.

Figures showed the well pumped 12 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil per day on perforations at 3,175 - 182 feet and produced from the Escondido.

This is believed to be the first time production has been found in the Escondido formation in Milam County.

NOW-NOW-NOW

This is a great time of year ... vacationtime, swimtime, baseballtime, summertime.

We understand adults swimming classes are being held in the evenings at Cameron Municipal Pool.

Classes for kids have been held for years, but the oldesters, people over teen years in this case, have often been left out.

It should be interesting to see how many adults turn out. A lot more adults than we realized don't know how to swim.

The Navy learns this every time a new group of recruits enters basic training. Like the Scouts and Red Cross, they teach the "buddy system" for this reason.

Until recent years, most people never swam in real lakes in many parts of Texas and the rest of the country. They found ponds, rivers and creeks the likeliest "swimminghole."

But now, lakes are developing throughout Central Texas, and every community has at least one public pool, regardless of size.

So it is timely adults get swimming lessons in Cameron. No reason we "over 30s" shouldn't join in the fun which the "under 30s" claim we don't know how to have.

Tire Blowup Injures Man

Frank Hartley of Milano is recovering in a Cameron hospital from a freak accident that shortened one of his fingers.

Hartley, owner of a Texaco service station in Milano was inflating a tire on a gooseneck trailer Thursday shortly after noon when the tire blew off the rim, knocking him back against the pickup hitched to the trailer.

The last joint of his right hand ring finger was cut off, but Hartley said he didn't know what cut it. He also suffered slight lacerations on his face and bruises on his arm.

A broken bead on the tire was apparently the cause of the blowup. Hartley is listed in satisfactory condition by Newton Memorial Hospital spokesmen.

IRISH TOMATOES? No, not really, but the Shamrock vegetable stand on US77 - SH 36 south of Cameron flies Irish flags all summer, reflecting Gene Whitaker's pride in his heritage. The flags are reported to have roused cheers from soldiers in passing

By Vern Sanford

For the past decade the cartridge industry has been in a great state of unrest.

New cartridges have been introduced, some old favorites discarded.

Armed services adopted a new military cartridge.

But there have been several time-honored cartridges which have rocked right along. They continue to be best-sellers, despite all the fanfare accorded to their so-called replacements.

The venerable .30/06 is one cartridge that has had its supremacy challenged. But it has successfully stood off all comers. Today it continues to be the best selling cartridge on the market.

Quite a record for an ancient fellow that's almost 60 years old.

Of course there has to be a reason for this august position on the cartridge list. And with the .30/06 there is no mystery. It continues to sell and be used because it is one of the most versatile cartridges on the market.

Texas deer hunters, for example, find it works quite well on local whitetails, and also does a good job on the bigger mule deer of Colorado, Utah and Wyoming.

It will serve as an antelope weapon and even can be used to plunk jackrabbits or maybe woodchucks. It works equally well on the open prairies or in brush, at long ranges and short.

Ever so often a cartridge is introduced that, according to the publicity, will "replace the .30/06." Latest to make this challenge, and closest to carrying it out, is the .308.

It has replaced the .30/06 as our official U.S. military cartridge.

But the .308 hasn't come close to overtaking the .30/06 yet, and perhaps it never will.

One cartridge that is stocked wherever ammunition is sold is the .30/06. You can go into the smallest town, where a few boxes of ammo are collecting dust on the shelves of the general store, and sure enough, there it will be in the most prominent spot. This is one reason why the .30/06 has been popular. Gunners know there never will be any problem obtaining ammo for it.

History of the .30/06 dates back to 1903, although it wasn't officially named until 1906.

During the Spanish-American war over Cuba, the United States forces used the .30/40 Krag. After the shooting was over, military men decided something more potent was needed.

Result of this was the 1903 Springfield and the .30/06 cartridge chambered for it. But the results weren't entirely satisfactory.

When the Germans far surpassed it with the Model 1905 version of their 8X57 military cartridge, designers went scurrying back to their planning boards.

From this experience came the Model 1906 rifle and the .30/06 cartridge.

Actually, all that happened was the .30/03 cartridge had its neck shortened 1/10th of an inch; a 150-grain sharp-point bullet replaced the original 220-grain bullet; and velocity was jacked up to 2,700 feet-per-second.

As a sporting cartridge, the .30/06 got its biggest boost when Theodore Roosevelt took a slightly modified version of the rifle on a big-game hunt to Africa in 1910.

Its biggest popularity came when the .30/06 was chambered for bolt-action rifles. But back in the early days Winchester even had a lever-action gun chambered for it, the Model 1895 being converted to take .30/06 ammo.

For a long time hunters stayed with the 150-grain bullet, although the .220-grain bullet could be fired in the 1903 rifles.

Then some 20 to 25 years after it was introduced, the .30/06 started to get a new look. Many new cartridges were designed for it, making the rifle more versatile.

The 150-grain bullet was supplemented with a 180-grain bullet. Then some better 220-grain bullets began showing up. For example the Western boattail with just a bit of lead exposed at the tip, and the Remington delayed mushroom.

After World War I there were some bolt-action guns available chambered for the .30/06, most of them imported from Europe.

First American bolt-action gun chambered for it was the Newton, built in 1915. But it never really enjoyed success.

Remington came out with its Model 30 Express for the .30/06 right after World War I, and in 1925 Winchester brought out its Model 54 in both .30/06 and .270.

All along, the .30/06 had been the official military cartridge until the 1950's when the .308 was introduced. But even this official military sanction of another cartridge hasn't slowed down the sporting sales of the .30/06.

Only other cartridge that has seriously challenged it down through the years has been the .270. But it never has quite caught up to the .30/06 in sales.

Yes, that's quite a record for a cartridge that's some 60 years old.

LET'S GO FISHING!

THIS BIG 'UN DIDN'T GET AWAY!
THIS 42 LB. YELLOW CAT WAS CAUGHT IN 1968 IN LITTLE RIVER BY ALBERT HAJOVSKY. LEFT OWNER OF THE LOCAL WESTERN AUTO ASSOCIATE STORE AND R. C. (CAGE) KENNON, OPERATOR OF KENNON'S SHOE REPAIR SHOP. THIS FISH WAS THE LARGER OF 3 CAUGHT DURING 4 NIGHTS OF FISHING. THE OTHERS WEIGHED 27 AND 37 LBS. LIVE PERCH WAS USED FOR BAIT. JUST IMAGINE THE ECITEMENT AND THRILL OF CATCHING FISH LIKE THESE. (Photo Courtesy R. E. (Cage) Kennon)

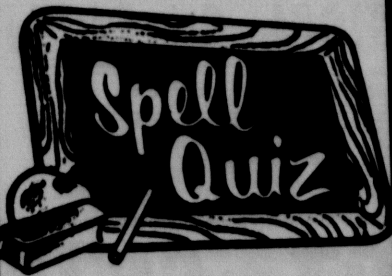

DO YOU BELIEVE?

This writer recalls a fishing trip many years ago to the Colorado River in the Bastrop area. We were going after "OLD TOBE" a monster catfish that had been breaking lines and getting away for years.
There were three in our party. The second day the other two were in the boat running the lines when the excitement started. "We've got Old Tobe!"
Things soon quieted down and the two came ashore still excited and gasping for breath. We had him. Alongside the boat they exclaimed! How big was he I asked, Man, we don't have any idea how much he would weight but he was at least 2 foot longer than the boat — Now, that is what you call excitement because we were using a 16 foot boat!
"OLD TOBE" is still there if you want to try for him.

More Power To Us...

Electric power is no problem in the Southwest, but in other parts of the country "brownouts" may be the newest social problem among the affluent metropolitan areas.

A grid power system may alleviate the problem.

This is another reason that Southwest industrial growth

continues: there is enough resource in electricity, gas and, of course, space, to interest the location or relocation of industry and therefore, jobs.

We suggest you read what the Christian Science Monitor notes about the problem of electricity in other parts of the country, brownouts if not blackouts.

WHAT OTHERS SAY...

Hot Summer - And Electricity

Americans learning of power shortages and blackouts and brownouts in postwar Europe and Asia used to say, "But it can't happen here." Now they are being warned that it can indeed happen. Electric power generation has definitely fallen behind demand, and may not catch up for five years or so.

So what does one do this summer if a 3 percent power brownout slows the air conditioner and shrinks the TV image, or if a blackout makes everything midnight? Take it in stride -- remembering ancestors who got by with kerosene lamps and candles. Additionally, strongly suggest to the power companies and the Federal Power Commission that they accelerate their power plant construction.

Make no mistake: affluence uses up electric current. And, despite dire poverty findings, the United States is affluent, beyond the dreams of the Byzantines. Electric power demands rise by about 9 percent each year. Power companies plan to spend $24 billion in the next five years, to overtake demand. Hopefully they can do this. But regulatory agencies in four states and the District of Columbia have already been told to ask their consumers to cut down on use of electric power.

This year's first peaking of demand--in New York State on a hot weekend -- was successfully handled by drawing on Canadian power systems. Surely many more interchanges of power could be arranged; peak periods do not occur simultaneously across the country. Interior Secretary Hickel has outlined a plan for a national grid system that would enable plants in one area to draw on plants in other areas.

Plant expansion is of course encountering the objections of conservationists. Generating plants pollute air, heat up rivers, are unsightly, or carry a (very remote) threat of nuclear radiation. Here and there Americans may have to decide whether they want electric power or handsome scenery.

We are certain that a nation's power requirements can be met by generating plants that are safe, sightly and nonpolluting. But this is the challenge -- a challenge that will be on hand for some years.

The Diplomatic Pouch

WASHINGTON, D.C.--The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

Soviet Visa

I am interested in visiting the Soviet Union with my wife some time in 1970. While in the Air Force, I served as a Russian translator. Will such service in the Air Force preclude my travel? If not, could you suggest channels through which I may obtain a travel visa?

A.B.
Rockford, Ill.

Dear A.B.:
It is suggested you check with the security officer of the Air Force unit in which you served concerning any travel restrictions to which you might be subject. To arrange your trip, you should engage the services of one of many travel agents accredited by Intourist, the official Soviet travel organization. The travel agent will make arrangements for your trip and assist you in obtaining a Soviet visa.

Czech Invasion

My class is doing a model U.N. project. The topic is Czechoslovakia. I would like to know the current situation regarding the Russian occupation of that country. If you can, please send me the speeches, voting records, and resolutions of our country on this topic and any other information you think may be helpful.

P.M.
New Orleans, La.

Dear P.M.:
Enclosed you will find a number of documents relating to the position the U.S. Government took at the time and following the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia. As you know, the invasion was never put on the agenda of the 25th General Assembly of the U.N. nor has it been on the agenda of any other U.N. General Assembly. In the documents enclosed you will see that the United States took a very positive stand against the invasion in the U.N. Security Council. It was in this Council that the Soviets vetoed further discussion of the matter.

Kellogg-Briand Pact

Working on the origins of the Kellogg-Briand Pact, I am interested in the testimony of State Department officials instrumental in defining our Government's European policy in the mid-1920's. Specifically, I would like to know the following: 1) the current address of Spencer Phenix, personal secretary of former Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg; 2) the whereabouts of Mr. Phenix's personal papers; 3) whether or not the family of former Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle, Jr., had decided to make available again his diary to scholars; and 4) if there exists any record of the December 22, 1927, meeting in which Secretary Kellogg testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee about a treaty to outlaw war.

Toledo, O.

Dear C.L.B.:
Mr. Spencer Phenix was neither a Civil Servant nor a Foreign Service Officer as personal secretary to former Secretary of State Kellogg; thus, the State Department's personnel records do not carry his name or present address. Requests would have to be made to him or his heirs regarding his personal papers. His official papers are filed with the National Archives and may be consulted there.

The personal papers of former Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle, Jr., are in the custody of the Library of Harvard University.

It is suggested that you write to the Chief of Staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a transcript of Secretary Kellogg's testimony of December 22, 1927. The Department of State has no records of the Kellogg period other than those in the National Archives.

Do you have an inquiry about U.S. foreign policy? Send it to:

Slow-Up in '60s

The 1960s produced six percent fewer housing starts than the '50s, figures from HUD indicate. The count for the '60s: 9.1 million single-family houses, 5.1 million apartments.

TPA Backs Hiway Fund

The Texas Press Association adopted the following recommendation of the resolutions committee at its 91st Annual Summer Convention held in Houston, June 20, 1970:

"... And be it further resolved that the Texas Press Association...

"4. Urge Congress to approve such legislation as will assure continuance of the Highway Trust Fund and the planning and construction of future programs of highway work for the economic good and defensive security of our country."

Such legislation presently is pending before Congress. The Highway Trust Fund is derived from taxes imposed upon motor vehicle users. Only about 55 percent of these taxes collected in Texas are returned to the Lone Star State to be matched by State funds for the construction of Interstate and U.S. - and State-numbered highways.

Farmland and buildings in the U.S. have reached a real estate value of $202.6 billion, up 5% from 1968. Farmland averages $187 per acre, ranging from $34 per acre in Wyoming to above $900 per acre in New Jersey.

Mutual Help Housing Is HUD Plan

LIVINGSTON
Senator John Tower will dedicate the first Mutual Help Houses built in the State of Texas on June 26 at Texas' only Indian Reservation.

Mutual Help Housing is a Department of Housing and Urban Development project for low income families in which the families actually buy houses.

Each family works 500 hours helping to build the house as a "sweat equity" down payment. Then they pay 20% of their income monthly for 16 years. At the end of this period they become owners of the homes.

Forty of this type houses are being constructed on the Alabama & Coushatta Indian Reservation near Livingston.

Walt Broemer, Supt. of the Reservation states, "This is one of the finest HUD housing programs because the participants have to make an effort to acquire the house and since they are the owners, they take more pride in caring for the homes than in low-rent and rent-subsidy programs."

Wilkerson Recalls ... 'The 4ths That Were'

By Jesse Wilkerson

Celebrating the 4th of July was quite an event in Cameron and Milam County, in the old days. Numerous towns and communities held picnics and barbecues.

Old Milam Junction was noted for its annual Woodmen of the World barbecues. These festivities drew large crowds.

Political candidates came from all parts of the county and state. Governor Tom Campbell came from Austin one year as an honored guest.

For entertainment they had horse races and contests of various sorts. Most of all, as they said, "the Milam barbecue was famous for its red lemonade that was made in the shade."

Cameron also had its celebrations, with picnics and band concerts at the old City Park, with lots of fireworks.

Speaking of fireworks, there was an incident at Wholleb's on one 4th of July, that I am sure all of the old timers will remember.

In those days, Wholleb's was a favorite hangout for the thirsty, with its nickel beers and ten-cent chilies, also its famous hamburger cheese, a tasty dish if you could withstand the smell. The building occupied by Wholleb's extended over a deep gulley on the back side.

The place was full of patrons one 4th of July evening, when one loving young fellow exploded some giant firecrackers underneath the building.

There was a terrific explosion as the firecrackers were as large as man's lower arm. To say that there was an exodus, would be putting it mild. It was more like a stampede as the inmates fled the building through doors and

Warren On Peru Mission

USS GUAM

Navy Petty Officer Third Class Leslie D. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Warren of Route 1, Calvert, is participating in a mercy mission to earthquake-torn Peru aboard the amphibious assault carrier USS Guam.

The Guam carried three highly specialized Navy surgical teams, a large quantity of emergency supplies and 16 Marine Corps helicopters to the stricken nation.

The "choppers" are transporting food and medical supplies into devastated areas from the port city of Chimbote, 240 miles north of Lima.

Hundreds of disaster victims are being flown to the carrier for medical care. Other medical teams consisting of Peruvians, Americans, Brazilians, Argentinians and Canadians are being airlifted by the Marine helicopters. Peace Corps volunteers are also assisting in the operation.

Bremond To Mark 4th

BREMOND

The annual July 4th celebration will be held in Bremond Saturday, July 4 at St. Mary's School grounds.

The celebration will feature barbecue dinner and supper with trimmings. There will be entertainment, games, prizes and refreshments available. A dance at night concludes the event.

The celebration is sponsored by the K of C of Bremond. The public is invited.

AUSTIN

Efforts of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Information and Education Division were rewarded this week by second-place prize in two categories in competition sponsored by the American Association for Conservation Education, meeting in Cody, Wyo.

The TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE Magazine was runner-up to New York's NEW YORK CONSERVATIONIST in the magazine category, and a radio series by I&E Officer L. D. Nuckles of Rockport topped a second-place finish in the radio competition.

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE Magazine won first place in the national contest the past two years.

The Department's graphic arts section won a third place in the special publications contest.

Storage Goes Into Carport

When building or buying a home, a couple checks out the indoor storage spaces with much care. But many people overlook the need for outdoor storage for garden and sports equipment.

One place that's almost always handy is the carport. If it isn't big enough for built-in storage, try a built-out. It's convenient and it also provides an insulating wall.

A three-foot wide addition, the length of one wall, will house mowers, skis, bikes, even fireplace wood.

Set the framework on concrete footings for a firm foundation and remove enough dirt to allow a "floor" of gravel for drainage. If you prefer, surface the floor with spaced wood decking.

The carpentering is no problem for a handyman. Begin by attaching the outer posts and beams to the existing carport.

The size and location of doors are important, so plan them for easy access to the items you expect to store.

If your house has wood siding, use matching lumber and paint or stain. If it's brick or stucco, use Douglas fir, cedar or pine and finish it to match the house trim. Slant the roof outward for drainage and cover it to match existing roofing.

Buyer Cuts Taxes

While weighing the dollar pros and cons of buying a home, don't overlook the income tax refunds that can ease the cost of this family investment. On an $18,000 mortgage, the deduction from taxed income can run from $1200 to $1500 a year.

Learning Lair Lures Family

Compact learning center can be boon to all the family. Box shelves hold reference books, record player, speakers. Under-counter space works well for tall books, records, writing gear. Cabinet can house folding table, chairs. Pull-out seat is integrated by matching random-width board facing. Any western-graded lumber is suitable.

Compact Learning Center Easy To Erect. Needs Little Space

Why the boom in family learning centers? Sure, since Sputnik, Johnny can read, but that's not enough to keep him clued in on the space age. So, more and more parents are providing learning centers for their children.

This is where school homework gets done, and maybe Dad learns something, too. It's great stimulus to curiosity about mankind, the earth and space technology.

Essentials include reference books, current magazines, perhaps a moon map and color TV, and other items dictated by the family's interests. And, of course, a place to keep them all together. An extra room to use for this purpose is a big asset, but if you don't have one, a built-in will serve well.

One advantage of an installation of this type in a family room is that it's right at hand and more readily put to use.

Pull-Out Seat Matches

If the counter is to be used for typing or other desk work, a pull-out seat, faced with matching cabinets doors, will be most useful. Other under-counter space may hold records and writing equipment. A tall compartment is useful for atlases and art books.

Consider storing folding tables and chairs in one cabinet. A surprisingly small space will hold a set. Be sure to measure the table top, since sizes vary and the counter will have to be high enough so the table can be placed on edge beneath it.

TRAVIS SCHOOL HAS HOMECOMING

The Travis School Homecoming was held Sunday, June 28, with classes of 1930, '35, '40, '45 and '50 honored.

Special recognition was given to former teachers at the school, the 1917 student body, and the girls' championship basketball team of 1934.

A basket lunch was enjoyed at noon.

BIRTHS

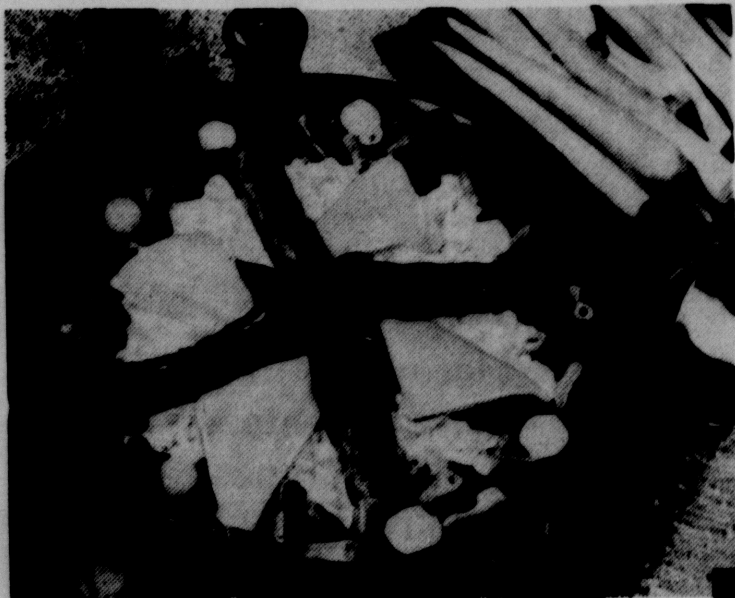

To Mr. and Mrs. John Santelano of Rockdale, a boy, 5 pounds 10 ounces, born 11:17 a.m. Friday, June 26, at St. Edward Hospital.

Priority List Need of House Hunters

Few families can afford their dream home these days, but most can find a choice of houses that suit their major basic needs. It pays to decide what your priorities are and learn how you can get more for your money.

You'll find ideas galore in 12 pages of color photographs and text under the title, "Homes Where You Can Live the Way You'd Like." To obtain a copy, send 15 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 525-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

Celebrate With Cheese

The enormous diversity of products offered by the dairy industry provides countless possibilities for palatable treats. Homestead's Casserole, as one example, is a one-dish meal including a succulent combination of cheese, meat and vegetables. You will be surprised how delicious that breakfast sausage can be later in the day as a delightfully unexpected dinner treat. Serve with fresh, crisp carrot and celery sticks and your favorite rolls and that quick but wholesome and unique summer dinner you have been searching for is complete.

Velveta Process Cheese Spread provides a good nutritional package because it is not only made from natural cheese which contains milk nutrients, but during processing supplemental milk minerals and solids are added. A two-ounce slice has more protein, calcium and vitamin A than an eight-ounce glass of whole milk. The velvety texture and mild flavor of processed cheese spread make Homestead's Casserole an irresistible dish.

Homestead's Casserole

1 9-oz. pkg. frozen cut green beans, cooked, drained
1/2 cup pearl onions, cooked, drained
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
3 cups hot mashed potatoes

1 lb. pork sausage links, cooked, drained
1/2 lb. Velveta Pasteurized Process Cheese Spread, sliced

Combine green beans, onions and pimiento. In a 2-quart casserole, layer half the potatoes, sausage and cheese. Top with remaining potatoes, combined vegetables, remaining sausage and cheese. Cover; bake at 350°, 30 minutes.

Try Summertime Turkey

The Texas Turkey Federation and TAP, within the Texas Department of Agriculture, will join forces again this August to put on a two month state-wide promotion of Texas turkey.

Commissioner John C. White, said, "Turkeys were not meant to be eaten only on Thanksgiving and Christmas, you can enjoy them any time." Right he is because turkeys are sold frozen and fresh chilled the year round.

The size of the tasty bird may range from 4 - 24 pounds; the factor of size alone discourages many homemakers from cooking turkey more often than seasonally. This may be due to the fact that consumers traditionally visualize a 22 pound turkey for the serving platter.

Turkeys are now processed and sold at the retail level as boneless roasts, halves, quarters, cut-up parts and even as precooked rolls.

If this is not the situation at the local grocery store, then ask the meat cutter or specialist to slice the turkey how you want it. This enables the housewife to gear the amount of turkey for any size family.

Another guide to delectable eating is to fry turkey steaks. Turkey is an economical buy all year round due to factors of no waste, little fat and the versatility of Texas turkey. The larger birds in particular are a good buy because there is more meat in proportion to bone and approximately costs as little as 25¢ per serving.

Turkey is still the symbol of bountiful feast and appeals to all age groups and weight watchers. Turkey meat is useful in reducing diets because it supplies generous amounts of the essential nutrients and has only 212 calories in a 3 1/2 ounce serving.

Nutritionally speaking, turkey is highest in protein and lowest in cholesterol of all other poultry and red meats. Turkey ranks high in riboflavin, niacin and other B Vitamins as well as high quality protein.

When selecting turkey remember the larger the bird the better the buy. Allow 3/4 - 1 pound per serving for small turkeys and allow 1/2 - 3/4 pound per serving for larger birds.

Make plans this summer for a backyard get-together and serve Texas Barbecued Summertime Turkey. . . a guide to good eating and enjoyment.

The Marquis de Lafayette gave the key to the Bastille to his friend George Washington, who hung it in Mount Vernon where it remains today.

Surface Water for Drinking

It is estimated that by 1980 some 165 million people will be depending on surface water for drinking purposes. By the year of 2000 it is expected that the fresh water supply may total more than 1000 billion gallons daily.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Boneless Leg of Pork (Fresh Boneless Ham).

Q. How is it identified?

A. It is a fresh boneless, shaped and tied whole leg or ham. It has a thin covering of fat. The roll usually weighs 10 to 14 pounds but may also be cut into smaller roasts.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By roasting (baking). To roast, place the Leg of Pork, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part, but not resting in fat. Do not add water and do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) to an internal temperature of 170°F. A 10 to 14-pound roll will require approximately 24 to 28 minutes per pound; a piece weighing 4 to 5 pounds will require 35 to 40 minutes per pound.

DRUG ADDICTION HITS HOME

KNOW YOUR ENEMY!

Hallucinogens: marijuana, hashish (reefers, joints, grass, pot), LSD (acid), mescaline; Depressants: barbiturates (downers, barbs, phenies), tranquilizers; Stimulants: amphetamines (pop pills, speed), diet pills; Narcotics: heroin (M, horse, junk, snow), cocaine (schoolboy), cocaine (coke, speed balls), morphine — all threaten to hit right home.

Drug addiction isn't somebody else's problem. . . it's ours. Each of us is a loser when the addict, ravaged by physical and emotional damage, driven by growing dependence on his drug, turns his potential as a person and as a citizen into frantic scheming for ways to get his drug and pay for it. To support his habit, he almost certainly turns to crime. Most alarming -- and of grave concern to parents -- is the spread of drug addiction downward, into the classrooms, of our high schools and even grade schools. There are no easy answers. . . but stopping drug addiction begins by honestly facing its problems.

FISH STOCKING TIME in Milam County and pond owners receive black bass fingerlings from Parks & Wildlife Department recently. R. C. Ash, of P&W Inland Fisheries Division, counts out fish for a waiting "customer." The fingerlings are offered free by

P&W for stocking ponds and tanks — bass in the spring and catfish in the fall. Applications are made to the Department earlier in the year for the fingerlings, through local Game Management Officers.

Lobsters and Crabs Go To Pot

to cover the frame but it was found unsatisfactory because of the need for frequent repair. It is being replaced rapidly by steel wire mesh.

The entire trap is given a plastic coating to make it saltwater-resistant and to bond the wire to the frame. A trap weighs about 138 pounds and costs approximately $100 as against the $5 to $10 for a light wooden pot. Lobstermen have caught more than 30 pounds in a single steel trap, while experts say that five to 10 pounds per day per trap is a very profitable catch.

Show Stars Tate Work

Larry Tate, son of former residents of Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Earl N. Tate, along with his wife Carol Andrews Tate were featured in a gallery show of contemporary art at the Barn at El Milagro, a restored home in Round Rock on June 20 and 21.

Tate was graduated with honors from the University of Texas as this year with a degree in studio art, with sculpture and ceramics his specialty. He received a fellowship to the University of Washington at Seattle, where he plans to begin work on a master of fine arts degree in sculpture this fall.

His work has also been shown in the U.T. Student Shows and he and his wife held a two-man art show at the McNamara-O'Connor Historical and Art Museum in Victoria last year.

'Hitches' Dampen Vacationers Fun

Mr. A and his wife were off for a weekend of camping in the mountains when the camper they were trailing broke loose and cartwheeled into the oncoming traffic.

Mr. B heard a loud thud as his rented trailer full of garbage overturned and spilled its malodorous cargo all over the roadway.

Mr. C felt the new boat he was towing lurch crazily seconds before losing control of his car and slamming into a hill-side.

As the summer months of peak weekend and vacation travel begin, these cases from insurance company files make a timely and ominous point:

Many of the ever increasing number of people that derive pleasure or profit from trailering their belongings don't know how to go about it safely.

Just how serious the situation is no one knows, according to Aetna. Yet the company says slightly over a week's worth of research turned up nearly 150 trailer accidents. And Aetna, one of the nation's largest insurance companies, estimates that the yearly toll is in the thousands and growing.

The cases of A, B and C above tell the story of trailering's three great dangers:

-The safety chain that isn't attached properly under the hitch (A).

-The safety chain that doesn't meet normal safety standards (B).

-The hitch that's installed incorrectly on the towing vehicle (C).

How to go about avoiding these dangers? Aetna has some advice.

You can start by having a "pro" choose the hitch you'll need and by letting him install it. This means the dealer who sells your make of car or some other well-established automotive expert who regularly handles this type of work. If you're doubtful, check with the dealer who sold you your trailer.

In other words, resist the urge to save a couple of dollars by buying the least expensive hitch or installing it yourself.

Next, and failure to take this step is probably trailering's most common error, cross the safety chains under the tongue of the hitch. This forms a loop that will catch the trailer tongue before it can dig into the ground should your hitch fail.

Also, leave only as much slack in the safety chains as you'll need for proper turning of the vehicles.

On a recent weekend trip, a member of Aetna's engineering department found that 19 out of 20 people he saw pulling a trailer had their safety chains improperly installed.

Finally, read and believe in the instructions that come from the manufacturer of your trailer and trailer hitch. Don't pull a heavier load than your rig was built for, and don't pull it under adverse speed, weather or road conditions.

If you'll just follow these few precautions, your summer travel plans should go off without a "hitch."

Loss in Forest Outdoes Usage

Up to 15 billion board feet of timber is lost annually to over-maturity, insects, disease and fire in the United States—more than enough for all housing currently being built, estimates Knox Marshall, forestry vice president of Western Wood Products Assn., Portland, Or.

Two-thirds of this huge loss of usable wood occurs in the West and most of it on federal forest lands, Marshall noted. Inaccessibility, a woeful lack of roads, is the key problem, he said.

The cost of roads and intensive management would be more than repaid in building materials gained from neglected forests, Marshall stated.

Highway Dept. To Add Environmental Experts

AUSTIN

Discussions centering on environmental problems relating to highway construction highlighted the Annual Convention of the Texas Good Roads Association here June 22-23.

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall promised delegates that the Highway Department was doing everything possible to meet today's environmental demands, and that within a few months the Department would add an archeologist, a sociologist, an ecologist, and a noise expert.

"Time has changed," James D. Pitcock of Houston, TGRA's public relations committee head, pointed out, "and the highway planning, location and design must be made responsive to the social and environmental, as well as to the economic, values of a community."

Federal Judge Hal Woodward, former chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, urged that women be recruited to help solve today's problems. "If you want your story told, tell it to a woman," he said, pointing out that women, rather than men, were more involved with automobiles, safety and traffic problems.

Resolutions adopted by the TGRA, whose mission is to promote the construction and maintenance of an adequate highway system to meet the transportation needs of the people of the State, included:

Endorsement of a Constitutional amendment, to be voted on in November, that would lower to a simple majority rather than a two-thirds approval, in road bond elections;

Screen Cuts Seamy View

Many windows needed for light and air circulation look out on ugly scenes of service areas and trash cans, or expose the family to view from street or neighbors.

A simple and attractive privacy screen can be made of 2x2-inch lumber spaced at intervals on a 2x2 or 2x4-inch base.

The screen may be set just under the eaves and attached to the soffit at the top. Horizontal 2x4-inch braces are nailed to the uprights before installation.

The ambitious handyman may want to construct a more ornate screen by adding a pattern of spacers between the uprights or varying the width of uprights and spaces.

Western pine or Douglas fir lumber is easily worked and is durable. It may be stained or painted to match house exterior siding or trim.

It's better, and quicker, to pre-stain the lumber before assembly. If the base is on or in the ground, it should be made of treated wood.

Continuation of the present Federal Highway Trust Fund system so that Texas can complete the Interstate system on schedule. (Unless Congress acts, the trust fund will run out in 1972, and the Interstate system in Texas will not be completed before 1975).

Does That Roast Really Weigh 4lbs.?

Are you sure that the four-pound roast you pay for at the grocery store is actually four pounds?

Well, obviously few shoppers carry scales with them to the market even in this consumer-conscious time. But thanks to the Texas Department of Agriculture, guided by Commissioner John C. White, the consumer can be fairly sure that he is getting the correct weight.

The Weights and Measures section of the TDA's Consumer Services Division has more than 100 inspectors who devote a portion of their time to weighing pre-packed meats at grocery stores throughout the state.

Consumer Services Division Director R. T. (Bob) Williams believes that the service could possibly save consumers $200 per day in a major supermarket. But the protection works both ways—for the consumer and the retailer. When a package weighs more than its label indicates, it too is returned to the store's scales. For 1968-1969, TDA inspectors weighed 133,340 packages, finding 21,000 overweight and 28,000 underweight; the remainder were correct.

When a TDA Inspector discovers a label with an incorrect weight, the label is re-faced and the package is re-weighed and the label corrected while the Inspector is on the premises.

Most of the inaccuracies found are due to carelessness rather than intentional fraud on the part of the retailer. Commissioner White pointed out, Meat will usually lose considerable weight from shrinkage over three days. Ideally, a package should be re-weighed each day. Housewives should not hesitate about asking a clerk to reweigh a meat package at the check-out counter, with allowance for the weight of the wrapper or tray. White added,

If a concern is repeatedly found guilty of deliberate fraud, it can be subject to heavy penalty. Cooperation with other agencies has helped ease the responsibility that Weights and Measures has in the field of testing pre-packed meats. City bureaus of Weights and Measures in Dallas and Fort Worth have helped alleviate this work load.

W. H. Krome George, 52, executive vice president and a director, was elected to succeed Harper as president. F. J. Close, chairman of the board since 1965, will retire June 30. He will continue to serve as a director.

Harper, who was only 15 when he began his Alcoa career at the company's Tennessee Operations during his 1925 high school vacation, was elected president in 1963 and chief executive officer in 1965.

He has since guided Alcoa through a period of major growth and modernization in the United States and abroad, and in the process has become one of the nation's best known industrial executives.

Tips From Tippet

Almost every driver will tell you that it is the driver behind him who is responsible for preventing a collision with his vehicle's rear end.

There are some things the lead driver can do to help prevent rear-end accidents.

Start slowing in time to make your stops smooth and gradual, giving the following driver time to react to your stoplights and space in which to stop.

Signal your intentions well before you stop or slow down.

If a tailgater persists in following too closely, slow down and try to get him to go around you. Even if he doesn't take the hint, the situation will be less hazardous at the slower speed.

Above all, don't lose your cool and do something rash.

Santa Fe Computers For Freight

A special equipment control program designed to obtain maximum utilization of freight cars has been developed by Santa Fe Railway, according to John S. Reed, president, Chicago.

The program functions through five new regional freight car distribution offices established at Topeka, Kans.; Temple and Amarillo, Tex.; and Los Angeles and Fresno, Calif., all of which are linked by microwave communications to Santa Fe's computer center at Topeka. Tele-processing equipment there analyzes about 50,000 freight car activity records arriving daily from across the railroad, and transmits to the regional centers a current listing of special equipped cars within their area of responsibility which are immediately available for loading, plus a projection of those to become available in one, two and three days.

"We anticipate that this advance availability of information will enable us to achieve a meaningful improvement in car utilization and supply," Reed said.

'Funny' Accidents Not So Humorous To Victims

AUSTIN
One recent visitor to a Texas State park fell from a tree from which he was plucking pine cones. At another park, a young motorcyclist collided with a deer, causing injury to both parties.

A child in yet another State park found that walking on live coals is something to be left to Indian fakirs.

Funny incidents? Hardly funny to those involved. But each year, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials receive hundreds of reports of accidents -- mostly preventable accidents -- from the park system.

Falls, cuts, bicycle accidents and even occasional drownings occur in the State parks despite the efforts of park officials to urge visitors to be safety conscious.

Carelessness is always the major cause of mishaps. One visitor to Bonham State Park was hurt in a fall from a pavilion -- his frisbee had gone astray. Two men suffered burns at Martin Dies State Park when butane from their camper stove ignited after the flame was blown out by the wind overnight.

Bicycle accidents are the most numerous of all mishaps in the State parks. Riding over unfamiliar ground or along narrow trails is always an open invitation for a "skinned knee" or worse.

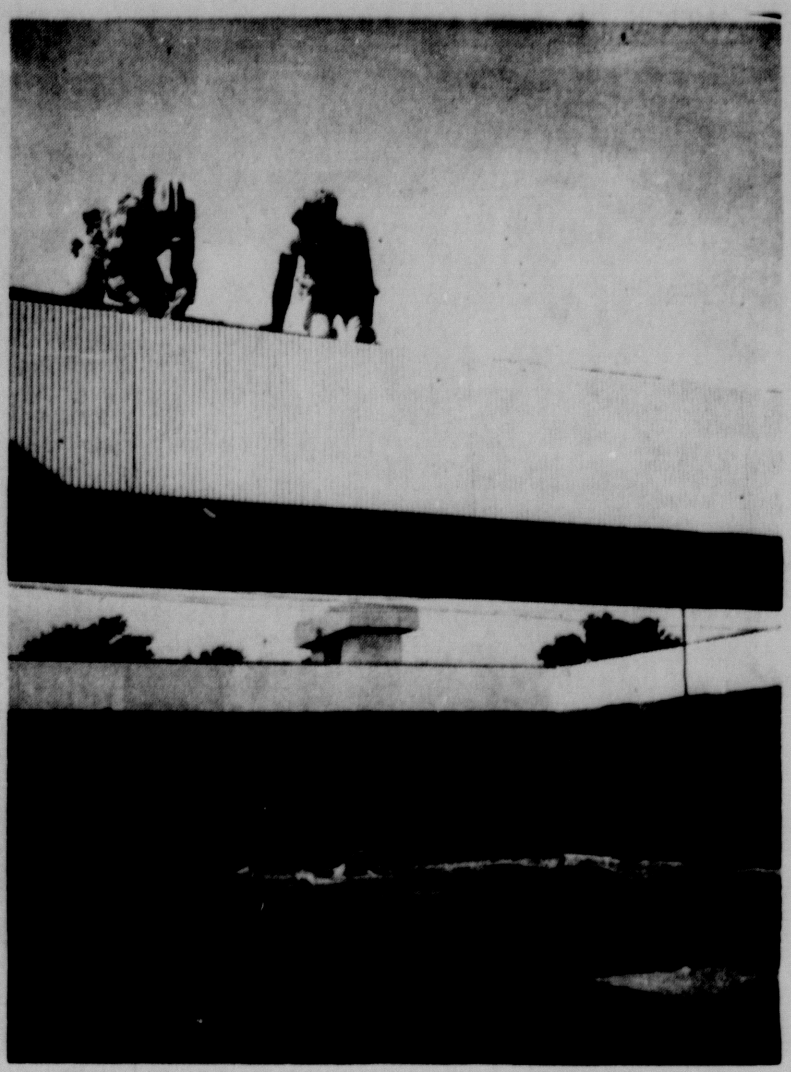

Officials urge park visitors to use at least as much caution afield as they use at home. The reward will be pleasant memories instead of breaks and bruises after the trip is over.

Hypothetical Shortage

If all food production stopped today, by tomorrow no milk would be available, in five days there would be no red meat nor eggs, in seven days all chickens would be gone and in 25 days all canned and condensed milk would be used.

Scrap Wood Harvested

Vancouver, B. C. -- (HK) -- Until the 1900's the sawdust, chips and other waste products of sawmills were burned. Today, however, thanks to advanced processing techniques employed by major forest product companies such as MacMillan Bloedel Limited, such waste is used in the manufacture of paper pulp, composition building materials and many other products. In fact, every scrap of wood harvested now has a valuable use.
